

REDS DRIVE NAZIS OUT OF STALINGRAD

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
Two patriotic organizations of women in Washington C. H.—the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Daughters of America—let the young men who left for the army during the last two days know that they were thinking of them when they climbed aboard the train that was to take them to Fort Hayes induction center, by presenting them with candy.

There was not much hurrah and no ceremony, but at least the boys did not go away feeling that no one cared, or that they would not be missed, it let them know their sacrifices were not just taken for granted, and that not all were so preoccupied with their own wartime problems, feeling so sorry for themselves, that they couldn't take a few minutes to say goodbye to the soldiers, the candy may not have been so much in a material way, but it was a gesture much larger, a way of saying "well, boys we're with you in spirit" a sort of acknowledgment that "we know you've really got the tough job to do and we're not forgetting you."

Any small gesture cheers the boys, you know they're giving up something, and these organizations deserve a compliment.

This is the end of a very sad story.
The baby squirrel that in two short days became the center of affection and interest at the T. Harold Craig household is dead, there was much sorrow and grieving over his passing, he was given a funeral by the family, just as families always give funerals to pets, and now all that remain are memories and the medicine dropper with which he was fed.

There was no postmortem, one was not needed, the cause of his death was obvious, it was acute indigestion, yes, that tiny squirrel was the victim of loving attention.

When found up in a tree on the edge of Gardner Park, just across Circle Avenue from the Craig home, the little fellow was crying just like any baby, and he tumbled down into waiting hands when called, apparently he had been abandoned, he was lonely, scared and hungry, warm milk, fed with a medicine dropper, just a few drops at a time, made him very happy, but only for a short time, it was his doom.

The Craig family was certain his intemperance with the milk was his undoing, but it was Miss Bess Cleveland who gave the explanation, she said she warmed cows milk was all right but it should have been diluted with at least one-half water, and he died of acute indigestion. Well, the little bull dog is happy anyway, the squirrel had put her nose just a little out of joint.

NEEDLE REMOVED FROM GIRL'S HEART

Condition, However, Called
'Very Grave'

PITTSBURG, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Three-year-old Eleanor Hughes underwent an uncommon and delicate operation today for removal of a needle penetrating the muscle of her heart.

The needle was accidentally driven full length into her chest while she was playing at her home Sunday.

Little Eleanor, with long hair, round cheeks and big brown eyes, didn't know a physician reported her condition was "very grave." Neither did her widowed mother. And Eleanor didn't know her mother has been a hospital patient since Sept. 1.

MEATLESS DAYS COMING TO RESTAURANTS IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Sept. 18.—(AP)—"Meatless Days" will be established in Ohio restaurants if and when meat is rationed, directors of the State Restaurant Association agreed today.

They said that by such a plan it would be possible to serve full portions to customers on other days rather than restricting them to prescribed amounts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Congressional farm leaders conceded today they were likely to lose their efforts to force an upward revision of agricultural parity price formulas in legislation designed to give President Roosevelt broad controls over the cost of living.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—A majority of the House Banking committee was reported today to favor scrapping of the controversial higher farm price parity provision in the economic control bill drawn by the committee chairman, Rep. Steagall (D-Ala.).

The factors determining how much the producer ought to receive for his crops, said he feared the Senate banking committee would reject any amendment changing the basis for parity.

"We won't get it over the president's opposition," he told reporters.

The president wrote Chairman Wagner (D-N.Y.) of the Senate committee and Chairman Steagall (D-Ala.) of the House committee yesterday expressing "unalterable opposition" to any change in the method of computing parity, a price level calculated to give farmers a return equal to that of a past favorable period, usually 1909-14.

He was promptly joined in this opposition by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Ad-

QUALITY OF SHOES TO BE MAINTAINED

Double-barreled Order Is Issued by OPA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today issued a double-barreled order aimed at maintaining quality of shoes in any given line over which price ceilings have been placed.

In the first place, OPA prescribed that new styles introduced into any standard single-priced shoe line "must be at least equal to the standards of workmanship and materials of other footwear in the line."

The order also ruled that the maximum price for each new style in a line of shoes shall be the highest price charged during March, 1942, for any style in that line.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Thousands of American troops arrived in Britain recently to swell the ranks of the rapidly expanding United States army in this country waiting for the opening of a second front.

While they have been whisked away to camps already, announcement of their arrival was not permitted until today.

They came in a typical convoy of great ships, which were well known passenger liners in peacetime, and disembarked at a number of British ports.

The crossing of the Atlantic was made swiftly and not a single German submarine was sighted, it was reported.

The arrivals consisted of fight-

JAPS TOUGHER THAN GERMANS, CREW DECLARES

Former Envoy to Nippon
Says Nazis Will Crack
But Not the Japs

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Describing Japan as "our most formidable enemy," far tougher than Germany, former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew told a war rally luncheon here today that the Germans cracked in 1918 and they will crack again, but the Japanese will fight until they are utterly crushed.

Grew, who was an American diplomat in Berlin in 1917 and American ambassador in Tokyo in 1941, indicated he was profoundly shocked to hear people in this country talk as if Germany in time would be defeated "and then we'll mop up the Japs."

He agreed with those who believe German morale will not survive a series of setbacks. But he added, in a prepared speech broadcast over the NBC network:

"The Japanese will not crack. They will not crack morally or psychologically or economically, even when eventual defeat stares them in the face. Only by utter physical destruction or utter exhaustion of their man and materials can they be defeated."

"That," he said, "is the difference between the Germans and the Japanese. That is what we are up against in fighting Japan."

THREE KILLERS EXECUTED, TWO FOR 14-CENT HOLDUP

OSSINING, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(AP)—Three men died in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison last night, two of them Negroes who strangled a man in a robbery that netted them 14 cents. Lawrence Edwards, a huge 19-year-old, and James Clark, 22, strangled Joseph Keelan, white, in a robbery in Manhattan last November. Manuel Jacinto, 48, died for slaying Mrs. Doris Croyle and her employer, James Monti, a year ago in Highland Falls.

SOVIET ATTACK IS LAUNCHED AT BAYONET POINT

Russians, with Backs to Wall
Of Bluffs, Strike Out
Over Bloody Field

SITUATION STILL GRAVE

Germans Pounded Back on Other Important Fronts;
Weather Balks RAF

By ROGER D. GREENE
(By the Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's siege armies, twice hurled back in bloody street fighting, were reported hastily erecting defenses in the northwest outskirts of Stalingrad today as the Russians seized the initiative in a dramatic eleventh-hour rally.

Dispatches said the Red army defenders were backed down tree-lined avenues to cliffs overlooking the Volga waterfront at one time.

Then, with the bluffs behind them and Nazi tanks in front, the Soviets struck back in a supreme effort to save the big steel city and forced the invaders to retreat.

Advices from Moscow said Russian tanks and infantry had gone over to the offensive in two neighboring sectors of the Stalingrad front and Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported thousands of fresh Siberian troops were moving into the 25-day-old battle.

German dead and hulks of burned-out Nazi tanks littered the streets, dispatches said, as the Russians swept the Nazi tide back to the north.

While Berlin remained silent on a previously trumpeted "special announcement from Hitler's headquarters," which failed to materialize last night, the Soviet command announced at mid-day: "On the northwest outskirts of Stalingrad, our troops repulsed enemy tank and infantry thrusts."

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said the retreating Germans hurriedly set up anti-tank obstacles and firing points to block the Russian counter-offensive after they had been driven back, often at bayonet point, yard by yard and house by house.

Overhead, waves of 80 to 100 German bombers continued to hammer the battle-scarred Volga metropolis, but 19 were reported shot down by Soviet anti-aircraft gunners and out-numbered Russian fliers.

Although the situation remained grave it seemed clear that the Russians had broken up at least the first phase of Field Marshal Fedor von Bock's climactic assault. Berlin hinted on Wednesday that Stalingrad's fall was expected within 24 hours.

Russian headquarters said that as darkness fell over the city last night "all detachments which had penetrated our positions were repulsed."

Hitler's whole 1942 campaign may have been thrown behind schedule by the Russian's 25-day defense of Stalingrad.

The British Exchange Telegraph reported from Zurich Wednesday night that the Nazi propaganda ministry had informed correspondents to expect a special announcement from Hitler's headquarters within 24 hours. The British agency said it was expected to deal with Stalingrad.

That 24 hours expired yesterday.

Elsewhere on the long battle-front, the Russians were reported to have struck into the German left flank in the Voronezh sector, 300 miles north of Stalingrad, and beat off Nazi assaults in the Moxdok sector in the Central Caucasus.

Other developments:
Air War—Southeast Europe underwent an attack of jitters last night, marked by an air-laid scare in Sofia, Bulgaria, and reports that mysterious balloons trailing explosives were drifting over Hungary.

Bad weather kept the RAF's big bombers from attacking Germany proper last night, but planes of the British coastal command attacked the docks at Bordeaux, site of a German U-boat nest on the south coast of France.

High Price Is Paid By Canada In Commando Raid on Dieppe

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The Canadian government disclosed today that two-thirds of the Canadian armed force used in the Dieppe raid Aug. 19 was lost, dead, wounded or missing, and said that "a very high price was paid" considering what was gained.

The government announced that 5,000 Canadian troops were used in the attack. Canadian casualties, which had been announced earlier, totaled 3,350.

A 4,000-word review issued by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston, the first comprehensive official statement on the operation, summed up the raid as follows:

"For lessons learned and the advantages gained, the forces, and particularly the land forces, paid a very heavy price."

The Canadian army furnished all but a small part of the land forces and suffered 3,350 casualties—170 killed, 633 wounded and 2,547 missing—in the costliest Canadian military operation of the war.

These losses, the statement said, "were probably due in part to the misfortune 'of a chance encounter with an escorted German tanker in the English channel.'"

"Such small circumstances are often important in operations of this kind," the statement said, "for that mishap marred complete achievement of surprise."

Out of the convoy, one armed enemy trawler was sunk and another probably was destroyed, but the incident had results on the later land operation:

1. The British No. 3 commando force which had the task of attacking and destroying a battery at Berneval, six miles east of Dieppe, was unable to complete its assignment.

2. The royal regiment of Canada was 20 minutes late reaching the beach at (Puits), a half mile east of Dieppe, and had to land in broad daylight instead of semi-darkness.

"The enemy garrison at this point (Puits) were manning formidable prepared defenses, were well provided with machine-guns and mortars and were on the alert," the statement said.

"In consequence, the royal regiment came under fire before landing and under very intense fire at the moment of touching the beach. Although the troops rushed to the attack through a deadly cross-fire with the utmost gallantry, the regiment suffered extremely heavy casualties and only a temporary lodgment was obtained."

This failure prevented the clearing of a headland east of Dieppe, part of the plan to protect the main force which attacked the beaches of Dieppe itself.

For reasons of military security the statement was silent regarding the main objectives of the operation and the important results achieved.

The other was arrested shortly after their arrival here last night when their victim, Mrs. R. Meier, 31, wife of the institution's chief clerk, forced the car to the curb and screamed an alarm at a filling station. She escaped unharmed.

JUNGLE ATTACK ON AUSTRALIANS SLOWED DOWN

U. S. Submarines Sink Four More Jap Ships in Drive To Clean Up Pacific Bases

(By the Associated Press)

While Australian troops battled Japanese forces in the New Guinea jungles only 32 miles air line from Port Moresby, Allied fighter planes struck a smashing blow yesterday at the enemy supply base at Buna, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Approximately 35,000 rounds of cannon and machine gun fire were loosed by the Allied raiders in a concentrated attack, destroying or damaging 15 landing barges and setting fires in supply dumps which were visible for 25 miles, a communique said.

The assault obviously was delivered with a view to relieving pressure on the Australian forces locked in combat with the Japanese near the village of Ioribaiwa, on the southern slopes of the lofty Owen Stanley Mountains.

The fighting in that area, which the Japanese reached Wednesday after a swift eight-mile advance, apparently had abated somewhat in intensity, the Allied communique describing the action as sporadic.

A spokesman at Allied headquarters, however, said that both sides were busily maneuvering for position, and it appeared probable that the lull would be short-lived.

Australians were reported countering Japanese tactics with their own flanking movements and infiltration and this was taken here to mean a stiffening of resistance against the invader.

Typical of the sporadic fighting which replaced the heavier combat was one jungle skirmish in which the Australians said they killed at least 40 Japanese and forced the remaining members of the enemy units to flee. There were no Australian losses.

Coupled with these aerial blows at Japan's striking power, the Navy in Washington announced that U. S. submarines had destroyed four more ships and registered torpedo hits on four others in the campaign against Japan's far-drawn supply lines in the western Pacific.

The new attacks raised to 107 the total of Japanese ships sunk or damaged by American under-seas craft alone since Pearl Harbor, and made a grand total of 258 Japanese ships destroyed or damaged by all action, compared with 53 United States ships lost or damaged.

The scene of the U. S. submarines' latest successes was not disclosed, but the Navy said the operations were unrelated to the continuing campaigns in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands.

In the battle for Madagascar, British troops closing in on the capital city of Tananarive captured the important port of Tamatave, after some French resistance.

Tamatave is the first British beachhead on Madagascar's east coast.

The Tananarive radio, conceding the fall of Tamatave, quoted Governor General Armand Annet as declaring bitterly that Britain's unacceptable peace terms left only the choice "to fight to the end."

London said the spurned armistice proposals were purely military terms of surrender.

Reserve of Russians
Formidable Barrier
To Allied Cooperation

(Wide World News Service)
Special Ambassador Wendell Willkie, who is now in Russia, would achieve a notable contribution to United Nations victory if he could find some way of breaking through the Muscovite reserve which at the present time is a formidable barrier to close cooperation with the other Allies.

The Russians in many instances are maintaining such a close-mouthed attitude about details of their war effort that Uncle Sam and John Bull often find difficulty in figuring just what the situation is. I believe you'd have to search hard to find an American or British staff officer who claimed to know just what the Red military position has been during the crucial fighting in the Caucasus this summer.

Such a lack of information makes it difficult for Russia's Allies to know exactly what cooperation is needed in specific cases. No general staff is going to fling its forces into action blindly.

Of course, the Russians are by nature people of action and not too many words.

Still, the thing cuts a good deal deeper than that. There have been signs that Moscow might not have complete confidence in her Allies. If so, the situation hasn't been helped any by the feeling in at least some circles in Russia that the United States and Britain could have done more in the matter of opening a second front. Unfortunately this suspicion must have been strengthened by the demand for a second front from uninformed and ill-advised people in both America and Britain.

But it strikes me that we have to look further back to find the basic reason why the Muscovites play their cards so close to their chests. For the greater part of the past quarter century the Soviet Union stood apart among the nations of the world because of the almost universal hostility towards the political doctrine of Communism.

So the Reds hoed their own row, and nothing was more natural than that they should build a mighty barrier about themselves to the exclusion of a world which was fearful of Bolshevism. The secrecy which surrounded Russia, and still does, is one of the amazing phases of history, for the outside world has known little of what went on within her borders.

Proof of this lies in Hitler's misjudgment of the Soviet military strength. The secret services of Germany and the other European countries are among the most formidable in world, but they couldn't penetrate the Red wall of secrecy.

It is understandable that under such circumstances Moscow should still be reticent in disclosing its affairs to the world. At the same time there seems to be no reason why this feeling should not be dispelled, since it isn't due to any lack of desire to fulfill the obligations of the alliance to the end.

Proof of the Russian willingness to die for the cause is before us in the magnificent defense of Stalingrad. Proof of the barrier of secrecy also is seen in this same historic siege, for Russia's allies don't know even in this crisis just what reserve power the Red Army may be able to produce.

So there, Mr. Willkie, is a grand opportunity for you.

BANKERS HOLD GROUP MEETING AT CHILLICOTHE

Local Men Hear Speakers Discuss Problems of Banks Thursday

The bankers' part in helping win the war was the theme of a meeting of Group Four bankers of the Ohio Bankers Association, held in Chillicothe, Thursday, and attended by J. Roush Burton, Robert E. Hartman and William M. Campbell, of Washington, C. H.

At two business sessions the bankers studied plans to be more active in the following fields: sale of war bonds; extension of loans to agriculture and industry; cooperation to prevent inflation; and the change of management policies to meet war conditions.

Howard G. Hudson, chairman of the group and cashier of the Clinton County National Bank and Trust Co., Wilmington, announced that 85 percent of the first five billion dollars worth of war bonds sold were handled by banks at their own expense.

Speakers were E. D. Reese, president of the Ohio Bankers Association and president of the Park National Bank, Newark; David M. Auch, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Bankers Association; Dale Brown of the National City Bank of Cleveland; and W. L. Hart, Ohio Superintendent of banks. All spoke on business subjects.

In addition to Chairman Hudson, the officers of the group are J. Tierney, vice president of the Security Central National Bank, Portsmouth, vice chairman; and R. F. Smith, cashier of the Savings Bank at Chillicothe, secretary-treasurer.

Counties covered by the conference are Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton.

Rankin, at the Courthouse, is a large African violet which, for profuse blooming, probably is without a peer in the community.

Judge Rankin has owned the violet for a number of years, and supplies it with moisture by placing water in a shallow plate at the base of the container.

At present the violet, which has a spread of nearly a foot, is bearing three to four dozen blossoms.

Judge Charles S. Bell, of Cincinnati, was endorsed for a recent meeting of the Fayette County Bar Association.

Judge Bell is one of several candidates seeking this important post and the endorsement here is similar to that being accorded Judge Bell in other counties.

Judge Bell is known to most of the attorneys of Fayette County.

W. S. CURL SHOWS COMING NEXT WEEK

Legion Again Sponsor for Soldiers 'Service Fund'

The W. S. Curl Shows will open the second engagement of the year in Washington C. H. Monday on the Old Fairground, on Columbus Avenue, under the auspices of the Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion.

The midway of rides, shows and games will continue in full swing, Legion spokesmen said, through Saturday night for a full week of entertainment.

The Curl Shows, it was pointed out, have been coming to Washington C. H. for the past 15 years and on most occasions, the Legion post has been the sponsor.

Here for a seven-day stand the last week of May this spring, both the Legion and show management are looking forward to another big week.

The Legion's cut of the proceeds will go into the post's Soldiers' Service Fund.

CURB ON INFLATION IS COMPLICATED BY FARM LABOR COSTS

Administrator Leon Henderson, both of whom said any change would tend to increase the cost of living.

Considerable sentiment was apparent among members of the House committee for revision of the Steagall bill to eliminate the re-definition of parity and to insert specific requirements for regulations of wages and salaries.

Influential members, not wishing to be quoted directly, said the re-definition of parity, raising the level to include all farm labor costs, would not be approved in view of the president's letter.

Steagall himself told newspapermen, "I've an idea there will be strong insistence that the new parity definition be eliminated or limited to cover only hired labor on the farms."

As drawn by the Alabamian, the measure proposes that the parity level be raised to cover the costs of all labor on the farm, including the farmer, members of his family and hired help. Steagall said government experts had told him that inclusion of all labor would increase the parity level 12 percent, but if only hired help were considered the increase would be 4 percent.

Bankhead's proposal was before the Senate committee today as it sought to whip into final shape a bill which would authorize and direct the president to stabilize prices, wages and salaries so far as practical as of either August 15 or September 15 levels. Senator Brown (D-Mich.), said the latter date might finally be chosen.

ONE FUGITIVE CAPTURED AND OTHER SURROUNDED AFTER DASH FOR FREEDOM

Cromona, Ky., both serving two-year auto theft terms.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said the pair would be prosecuted under Federal law.

Triplett was believed by officers to be hiding on a hill separating downtown Ashland from a southern residential section. The hill was surrounded by FBI men, police, deputies and volunteers.

Shank said at Chillicothe that Triplett was to have been released September 31 and that Cote had been granted a parole and would have been freed in a "short time."

He said the pair, working as trusty yard boys, went to the Meier residence yesterday afternoon and abducted Mrs. Meier after inducing her three-year-old daughter, Diane, to go to a play room.

When they reached Ashland, Mrs. Meier grabbed the steering wheel of the car and pulled it into a curb near a filling station, at the same time screaming that she was a prisoner.

The youths fled. Filling station attendants summoned police and within 20 minutes Patrolmen Mike McNeal and Marion Kemper had captured Cote. They said he was unarmed.

Mrs. Meier told Ashland police that she managed to escape by "acting like they do in the movies."

She said the fugitives bound her hand and foot and put her in the trunk of the car and that when they opened the trunk an hour and a half later she pretended to be unconscious.

As they tried to revive her, she told police, she began to pretend to come to gradually, "just like they do in the movies."

After they crossed the Ohio River at Portsmouth, she determined to try to get help and in Ashland she pulled the car into the curb near the filling station.

COMMITTEE NAMED ON WAR PRODUCTION

Purpose Is To See That All Programs Are Met

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The task of assembling the jigsaw pieces of the war production figure for a twice-a-week scrutiny of armed services' needs fell today to a newly created production committee headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company.

The committee was created by the War Production Board last night and charged, Chairman Donald M. Nelson said, with "seeing to it that programs and schedules for all phases of our war effort are met."

In effect, another WPB source explained, the new unit obtains a position from which the entire war production picture can be surveyed continually to perceive the diversified needs of the Army, the Air Force, Navy and the Maritime Commission.

prostitute and placed her in "call houses" and brothels in New York, Akron and Canton. She said he had repeatedly threatened her.

Another pretty 21-year-old witness, permitted to mask her identity behind the "professional" name of Joyce Foley, testified Morei had threatened to "scar me up so no other man would want me" if she left him. She said she "worked" for Morei in New York City, Cleveland, Sandusky, Akron, Lorain, Canton, and Zanesville, after he had paid her $500 hospital bill.

Both witnesses told of turning over large sums of money to the defendants. "Miss Foley" estimated her New York earnings at $600 weekly and Miss Clark said she averaged about $135 a week at Canton.

Scott said the sudden end of the men's trial prevented him from calling two more material witnesses—Jean Johnson, wife of a defendant, and a girl who, Scott asserted, turned over $15,000 in brothel earnings to the four.

District Attorney Don C. Miller and FBI agents reported the ring's operations centered at a Canton barbecue stand, and reached into Saratoga Springs, N. Y., in the racing season; Miami, Fla., in the winter; Glen Falls, N. Y., Meadville, Pa., and Little Rock, Ark.

TREASURY TAX NOTES ON SALE IN BANKS HERE

New Series To Be Handled Through Victory Fund Committee in County

Banks in Washington C. H. and Fayette County will handle the sale of two new Treasury Tax Savings Notes, promotion of which will be directed by the Fayette County Victory Fund Committee.

The Treasury Tax Savings Notes (Tax Series A-1945) are dated September 1, 1942, and issued at par and accrued interest, due September 1, 1945. The other, in Tax Series C, is issued at par and due three years from the date of issue.

They are acceptable at par and accrued interest in payment of Federal income, estate and gift taxes.

Under the new tax bill, officials said, almost everyone will be subject to income taxes and the purchase of these new Tax Anticipation Notes "will greatly assist" in preparing for the payment of higher taxes.

The orders for sales will be taken by representatives of the Victory Fund Committee in each township of the county and each ward in the city or through any bank.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has announced changes as above stated in the terms of the Treasury Tax Savings Notes, which have been on sale since August 1, 1941, for the convenience of taxpayers and which are receivable at par and accrued interest in payment of the three named taxes.

The changes are effective in new Treasury Notes of Tax Series A-1945 and Tax Series C-1945 which are being offered for sale, although the new notes will not be ready for delivery until the latter part of the month.

The new notes of Tax Series C are adaptable for dual purposes: (1) for the accumulation of tax reserves and (2) for the temporary or short-term investment of cash balances which are at present idle. The new terms provide greater flexibility and, through provisions for cash redemption with interest, permit holders of Tax Series C notes to realize on the notes without loss of interest.

The notes of Tax Series A-1945, like those of prior Series A notes, are intended primarily for the smaller taxpayer. The limitation on the principal amount that may be presented on account of any one taxpayer's liability for each class of taxes (income, estate or gift) for each taxable period has been raised from $1,200 to $5,000. The new limitation also will apply to prior Tax Series A-1945 and A-1944, or to any combination of the three series. In other respects the terms of notes of Tax Series A-1945 remain the same as those of A-1944. Interest will accrue (from September, 1942) at the rate of 16 cents per month per $100, equivalent to a yield of approximately 1.92 per annum.

The notes will be issued at par and accrued interest. If not presented in payment of taxes, the notes will be redeemed at the purchase price only, either at or before maturity, without advance notice.

The notes of Tax Series C will be dated as of the first day of the month in which purchased, will mature three years thereafter, and will be issued at par. Interest on these notes will accrue each month from the month of issue, on a graduated scale, the equivalent yield if held to maturity being approximately 1.07 percent per annum. If not presented in payment of taxes, and except for those in the names of banks that accept demand deposits, the notes of Tax Series C will be redeemable at par and accrued interest, either at maturity, or on 30 days' advance notice, during and after the sixth calendar month after the month of issue. If inscribed in the name of a bank that accepts demand deposits, the notes will be accepted at par and accrued interest in payment of taxes, but redeemed for cash at or before maturity only at the purchase price, or par. The notes of this series may be pledged with banking institutions as collateral for loans but no other hypothecation will be recognized by the Treasury Department.

The notes will be issued at par and accrued interest. If not presented in payment of taxes, the notes will be redeemed at the purchase price only, either at or before maturity, without advance notice.

MORE MEN SENT TO FORT HAYES LATE THURSDAY

Many Additional Men Will Be Sent Within Next 24 Hours

Twenty-three additional men from Fayette County left Thursday afternoon on a B. & O. train, around 4:30 P. M. for Fort Hayes, Columbus, to enter military service.

They were the men who had passed physical tests on September 3rd, when 30 or more men were sent up for final tests, and allowed two weeks in which to prepare their affairs for leaving. The men were placed in charge of Garrett A. Ramey, and went to the B. & O. station in a body.

The large number of men who passed the physical tests on September 4, will be sent to Fort Hayes within 24 hours, but no announcement as to number or time of departure has been publicly announced.

ADDITIONAL RAIN VERY BENEFICIAL

A series of showers, starting Wednesday night and continuing over Thursday, proved very beneficial to late crops, although they were sufficient to halt corn cutting most of Thursday.

Rainfall during recent months has been below normal, but not as light as in the summer months during the past few years.

Streams are still flowing throughout the county—a condition which has been unusual in recent years during late August and September.

BIRDS AGAIN SWARM TO TREES IN CITY

Birds again are flocking to trees on some of the principal streets, as fall approaches and flocks of blackbirds and starlings begin to congregate in favorable roosting places.

Citizens have resorted to noise and other ways of endeavoring to discourage the birds from roosting near their premises, but so far their efforts have been unsuccessful.

RESURFACING STARTS ON THE CCC HIGHWAY

Resurfacing of the CCC highway from Sligo to the Warren County line is now under way by the State Highway Maintenance Department.

The road will be closed for several days while the work is under way. Traffic is being routed over Route 68 to Cuba and then west on Route 350 to Clarksville.

COOPERATE FOR YOUR OWN GOOD

Merchandising organizations have issued much valuable advice on how consumers may help retail stores provide maximum service during the war.

Don't ask for deliveries except when unavoidable. Carry small packages yourself so that truck space may be saved for big packages. Don't make a practice of changing and returning merchandise—that wastes time, effort and materials. Don't insist on unnecessary wrapping and packing service—the government is requesting retailers and all other business to conserve materials to the utmost.

In short, consumer cooperation can help save tires and gasoline, save scarce materials, promote orderly marketing, and prevent panicky buying and hoarding.

The war has brought some mighty tough problems to the retailer. And he is doing the best he can to solve them. Thousands of merchants in all lines, including both the chains and the independents, are doing a notable job of consumer service in the face of unprecedented difficulties. Retailers are pushing the nutrition drive. Retailers are working with manufacturers to develop suitable and inexpensive substitutes for priority goods. Retailers have shown the finest kind of cooperation in carrying out the complicated price-control order.

The consumer who does not make unnecessary demands on the retailer he patronizes is actually helping himself, and helping to conserve materials and labor needed for war purposes. Retailing has lost thousands of experienced employees to the military services and war industries, and these people cannot be easily replaced. It is doing a remarkably good job in maintaining its high standards under these circumstances.

AMERICA'S NATURAL RESOURCES

In the laboratories of America, miracles are in the process of being wrought. New frontiers of science are being explored. And old and commonplace materials are being turned to new and marvelous uses.

Coal and oil are cases in point. We think primarily of coal as a substance which provides motive power for industry and which heats homes. We think primarily of oil as a variety of liquids which propel our engines and lubricate our machinery. But coal and oil are the basis of new materials which serve a thousand other vital purposes.

The loss of our natural rubber is leading to the creation of a new synthetic rubber industry. Some kinds of synthetic rubber are made from oil derivatives. Other kinds are made of derivatives of coal. All the various synthetic rubbers have special and important uses. And the

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — "Americans must learn how to chew," says Nicholas Marchitelli, chief chef at Washington's Mayflower hotel.

Nick, as an expert, was discussing wartime's available edibles. Soft, mushy stuff, which the consumer semi-drinks doesn't fill him up adequately, Chef Nicholas explains, substantial stuff is what he needs to stick to his ribs.

The housewife, remarks the Mayflower's boss-of-cuisine, does not realize the difficulties he experiences on his job.

She sets her table with what the grocer and butcher ration to her. Then, if hubby or the kids find any fault, she reminds them that they'd better be thankful for anything at all. A hotel cook has to be more diplomatic.

Nick recognizes that his culinary education is superior to the housewife's.

"She's been in the habit of running her kitchen in accordance with budgetary considerations," he comments. "Now she has a war situation to adapt herself to and probably she hasn't thoroughly learned how to do it yet. We professionals have had it rubbed into us to beat four of a kind."

The Washington hotel professional's at one important advantage over the housewife, though. One Advantage

The head of a locally resident family, getting home for dinner, is entitled to claim it, and the wife's got to serve it to him in some form or other. A hotel management's in a perfect position to say, "On, well, if you don't like our offering, go somewhere else." Thereupon that guy is at liberty to head for a park bench for the night (if he can find one unoccupied) and he's lucky if he can locate space for himself within reach of a hot-dog stand to satisfy his appetite.

This makes Washington hotels pretty independent. I doubt that wartime accommodations for transients are so congested throughout the country. There may be some crowding in spots, where military activity's especially rampant, but the capital's a nightmare.

Flashes of Life

Trick Finds Competitor for Duration
BECKLEY, W. VA.—Ernest W. Elliott of Beckley has reached the height of disappointment.

It all came about in a variation of the time-mellowed April Fools' Day "pocketbook trick." Elliott was driving home over a Raleigh County highway when his surprise eyes beheld, of all things, a new tire.

Quickly, he applied the brake, got out of his car and rushed toward the find. Just as quickly, the tire zoomed off the side of the road and into darkness, accompanied by tittering laughter.

"I was more disappointed than surprised," Elliott said.

Slightly Exaggerated

WORKINGHAM, England—Maurice Butler was playing cards during the lunch hour when he got a call from his home that he had visitors, six relatives, all bearing wreaths for his funeral. A telegram to them had read: Maurice dead flu, come Thursday, in stead of "bed, flu."

3. During what period in the last 50 years was a boyish figure considered a beauty fault?

Words of Wisdom

What is difficulty?—Only a word indicating the degree of strength requisite for accomplishing particular objects; a mere notice of the necessity for exertion; a bugbear to children and fools; only a stimulus to men.—Samuel Warren.

Hints on Etiquette

When walking on a street try not to become so absorbed in your conversation that you are oblivious to others, and make them step off the sidewalk in order to pass you.

Today's Horoscope

Courage, rigid determination, and a capacity for sound planning characterize the persons who have birthdays today. Occasional failures only strengthen your resolves. You are generous and loving, but occasionally also headstrong and stubborn. Unexpected events, not wholly unfortunate, however, but some of a peculiar nature, enter your life in the next year. You should guard against deception in love and business, and avoid impulsive actions and quarrels. The child who is born on this date will hold strange ideas and be difficult to understand. Trouble through the deception of friends and lovers is to be feared.

chemists are certain that, in years to come, we will have an abundant supply of artificial rubber which will be superior in all ways to the natural product.

We are just on the verge of what might be termed the "plastic age." Again, coal and oil enter prominently into the picture. They are the basis of a long list of plastics which will be used for an astonishing variety of purposes in the future. Plastic autos, plastic airplanes, plastic window glass, plastic furniture, plastic home utensils—these are but a few of the revolutionary chemical developments of the time.

America is singularly blessed in the magnitude of its natural resources. And it is equally blessed in the efficiency and progressiveness of the great private industries which develop them. Natural resources give us strength in time of war. They will give us a higher standard of living than we have ever known, when peace comes again.

Cities generally enjoy booms. Folk, already dug in, make money out of 'em.

But this is too much. Life's miserable. You can't find room to buy a pack of cigarettes.

A Boom That Lasts
Washington booms, though, are not so bad.

All other booms, in due season, bust.

I've seen 'em—real estate booms, mining booms, petroleum booms, all sorts.

Ultimately they fizzle out, and things are flatter than a pancake. But Washington (D. C.) is different. This town never shrinks.

It swells, with the addition of new government departments and subdivisions. It can sprinkle itself around, but it always concentrates here.

Diet and Health

Normal Development in Infancy and Childhood

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE CHILD Health Movement is celebrating its 18th birthday this year. It can hardly be gainsaid that education of parents and teachers in this subject has done as much to promote the health of the present generation as public hygiene measures.

The standards to determine the health of an infant and child at different ages is one feature of the educational program this year.

The proportions of the body of an infant at the age when it is just beginning to stand and walk are different from those of the child and adult. The trunk and head are relatively large, the extremities relatively short. The legs and arms grow much faster than the rest of the body. The length of the newborn baby's legs, from the crest of the hipbone to the sole of the feet is 43 per cent of the entire bodily length. That of a child of 16 is 60 per cent.

Points to Notice
The points to notice about the baby of one or two years are, first, the shape and form of the head. It should be well rounded with plenty of space above the eyes, and the jaws wide to prevent tooth crowding.

The neck should be free of enlarged glands. The chest should be broad and deep, the abdomen flat. The skin should be everywhere clear.

The arms are normally plump, but not excessively fat. The same thing is true of the legs. The muscles of arms and legs should firm.

The legs should be straight, not bowed, and the lower limbs strong and well-proportioned.

For the child of about eight or 10 it is a sign of good health for the height and weight to be close to the average for the age.

A luxurious head of hair is a sign of health.

The shoulders should be square, the back flat at this age (later the normal curves begin to appear), the spine straight, the muscles firm and the trunk well proportioned. The legs should be straight and not bowed, and the knees should touch without bumping when the child is standing at attention. The feet now should be well arched.

These general standards can be determined by any parents without recourse to measurements and without any special medical training. If the child does not conform to them reasonably closely it should be an indication for medical consultation to see if there is any nutritional condition or bone condition which would account for the lack of bodily symmetry.

Children with this standard of bodily build may be expected to be normally active, to eat and sleep well, to begin to walk and talk at the regular ages.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L. E. B.: When a person has too much acid should he use only alkaline food? What foods contain alkaline? Would bicarbonate of soda change the acid?

Answer: I cannot tell from your question whether you are referring to too much acid in the stomach or too much acid in the system. People often conclude they have too much acid in the system without any evidence. It is very rare to have too much acid in the system. Fruits and vegetables give an alkaline reaction and it certainly will not hurt you to eat plenty of them. Acid in the stomach can be helped with bicarbonate of soda. Foods good for acid in the stomach are those that absorb the acid like cream and lean meats.

Mark's Wife
by MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX
"I'LL BET Mother threw a monkey wrench into the works. Didn't she, Dad?" Pam was gayly persistent.

"Not at all," he said briefly. Claire had indeed "thrown the monkey wrench" into his plans, but it had been his fault. He'd thought she'd taken it for granted that he was coming and hadn't said anything more about it in his brief notes since that telephone conversation weeks before.

Apparently she hadn't taken anything for granted because when he called her this afternoon, her voice had been hesitant and he gathered that he had upset her plans.

She said, "When I didn't hear anything further from you, I thought you didn't want to come. I—I put the Frisbees off until next month. If you really want to come. . . . But there's a crowd here. . . . I don't think you'd be interested in them. . . . But, Tom, if you'd really planned on it. . . ."

He'd cut in then, keeping the disappointment out of his voice, saying, "Don't worry about me. I'll take the car and run up with Frank to his lodge."

An accordion player began to play "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" for a party in the corner.

Pam said, "It certainly is all here, and tonight is going to be a night. Have you got theater tickets, Dad?"

He said, "I have!" and hailed a pretty flower-vendor. He bought sheaves of gardenias for each of them.

Pinning them to her fur collar, Barbara, a little giddy and very happy from the effect of the cocktail, was very sure it was going to be, as Pamela predicted, a night!

It was. They dined beautifully in the gold and white dining room that Theodore had copied from his famous restaurant in Paris, on vichy-soisse, incredibly smooth and chilled to a degree of perfection. Golden sole was followed by breast of chicken cooked in white wine sauce and served with baby lima beans and a crisp salad of endive and romaine. When this was finished, a corps of waiters brought a small table, an alcohol lamp and there was a flash of deft hands and a blue flame above the crepe Suzette that was their sweet. They lingered over tiny cups of coffee and creme de menthe frappe until Pam said she couldn't bear to miss the rising curtain at the revue for which Tom had bought tickets.

Tom said he selected tickets for that particular revue because it was the gayest in town. It was. The music was the music of the moment, both sweet and saucy. The comedians made them laugh until tears rolled down the girls' cheeks, and the costumes and sets were so beautiful Barbara said she wanted to photograph them on her memory.

When the first act was over, they went out into the lobby to smoke and because Barbara wanted to see "celebrities."

The lobby was jammed with men in tail coats and with women wearing diamonds and sables and ermine.

Barbara said to Pam, "I'd like to have a little jacket like the one on the girl over there by the box-office. The red-haired girl."

Pam let out a shriek; "But that's Mimsey!"

"Who's Mimsey?" her father asked. But Pam had already left his side and was wriggling her way through the crowd to the red-haired girl.

She brought her back. "Barbara Wister. . . . and my dad. . . . I want you to meet Mimsey Scoville. We were roommates together at Miss Maidstone's ages ago."

Mimsey bowed respectfully to Tom and smiled at Barbara, then came alive and said, "Please don't be a stern parent, Mr. Kilean. I'll simply die if you take Pam off."

Pam supplied the possible reason for Mimsey's threatened demise:

"She's having a snazzy party tomorrow night. Dad. Didn't know I was here or she would have sent me an invitation and I could have told you about it before."

"What is a snazzy party?" Tom asked gravely. Mimsey said, "Oh, you know, smooth men! A Harvard crowd! A rumba band and all that. If Pam doesn't stay, it will simply be flat."

"Well," Tom said, "I'd hate to be responsible for that. But I don't like to leave."

"Oh, Dad, please! I can stay with Mim tonight and tomorrow night and come home the next day. I am old enough to travel on trains alone, you know."

"If you can assure me that you'll be chaperoned," Tom said with a twinkle in his eye.

Both young girls shrieked.

"Isn't he quaint?" Pam demanded. "All parents are." Mimsey said conclusively. "But if you could see my mother! She positively doesn't use lipstick!"

"In that case," Tom told her, "I feel that my baby will be quite safe."

Pam permitted herself a rare girlish giggle. When Mimsey departed with, "Meet you right here after the show," Pam said, "You certainly are funny, Dad. Hadn't you better be thinking about who's going to chaperone Barbara?"

"Barbara?" he said. "Certainly. If you're going to go old world on me, you've got to do the same for her."

"And what danger is Barbara in?" that lady asked.

"Figure it out for yourselves. You two turn up together on the last train in South Wintridge, with Barbara decorated with corsage and all, and what will the town think? You'd better wear false beards when you get off the train at 3 o'clock in the morning."

Tom said sternly, "A little more respect for your elders, please, miss. Besides, there's never anyone awake in South Wintridge at 3 o'clock in the morning."

He was quite right. He would not have been right, however, if he had added that South Wintridge people did not return on that train.

Miss Minnie Trowbridge was an expert seamstress. No one in South Wintridge—and everyone knew her, since she had been sewing for its families for nearly 40 years—would deny that. Nor could they deny her boasting, "Folks say I'm a one-woman newspaper," she was fond of repeating, and "Many's the lady in South Wintridge who wouldn't have anybody else sew for her. They even send for me when they move away somewhere else."

It wasn't very often that she was sent for, and Mary Humboldt, who had been Mary Linke, wouldn't have sent for her that fateful September when she moved to New York if she'd known where to find anyone else who could do what she wanted done. Minnie was a talker, but she was a fast and competent worker and it was worth the added cost of paying her railroad fare to New York to get the children's clothes ready and right for school.

It would have been worth a king's ransom to Barbara Wister to have prevented Minnie's trip to New York.

Yanks and Tommies Are Good Neighbors

By RICE YAHNER
(Wide World News Service)
WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN NORTHERN IRELAND—

A peep-sight of the American and British army that has been training together more than eight months to open the roads to Paris, Berlin, Rome and Tokio. . . .

From the topside of a peep—a wee caving contraption that nothing more than a wheeled engine giving you everything but comfort—you can go any place, see everything. And this is the picture:

The British and Americans, different in background and training, mutually respect each other's abilities and are determined to finish the "mess" at the first possible moment.

American equipment, from mess pans to the biggest field guns and their prime movers, stands out. British discipline is universal and automatic. Americans, freer and easier, encourage initiative and individuality if it contributes to the success of the team.

On both sides the prospect of anything but ultimate and complete victory, whatever the cost, is never considered. And I'm talking about the men in the ranks whom I pick up in my peep all over Northern Ireland when they're on the way to "town" on a 24-hour pass or going on leave. Anytime the "brass hats" are ready the soldiers are ready.

The men of both armies get along, whether training together or relaxing. Americans share their "wealth" (to the British) of cigarettes, chocolate, beer, etc.

American sergeants, following a British tradition that gives them their own mess and therefore permits what amount to club facilities, entertain their "opposite numbers" in the British outfits with fried chicken and all the trimmings. And then they are invited to roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, or curried mutton and rice, that the British sergeants probably skimped a month on rations to provide.

Of course, NOT every American is a pal of the British. NOT every American soldier is a pal with another in the same uniform.

There have been brawls and one or two tragedies. But both British and American officers and non-coms who were in World War I tell you the two forces are brotherly compared to the feeling that existed between them a quarter of a century ago.

American soldiers admire the ability of the British to "take it." Paid much less, the British soldier does what he can with what he has.

One evening, coming out from town, I picked up an American soldier who started talking about what a great time he had had on a couple of pounds that evening.

A couple of Tommies joined us. One said he had been most fortunate that day. He'd been to town, had tea, won a few bob from other soldiers.

President Roosevelt told a press conference yesterday that the government may be forced to take such action unless more liberal contributions were made. He expressed certainty that around American homes and farms there was a great deal of unused and discarded metal.

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE SCRAP METALS, CLAIM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Government seizure of scrap metal held by individuals became a possibility today unless the public cooperates more fully with the scrap collection campaign.

HOME 'STABILITY' STARTED HERE BY 20 FAMILIES

FHA Starts Five on Road To Ownership and Backs Repairs on Others

Twenty families in Washington C. H. and Fayette County sank their roots a little deeper in the community during the past year, a report on the activities of the Federal Housing Administration reveals. According to A. L. Gukert, the district director of the FHA for central Ohio, they either made substantial repairs on their houses or started on the road to home ownership with the help of their government agency.

Of the 20 who took advantage of the FHA financing opportunities, 15 went in for property improvement with loans insured under Title 1 amounting to $3,857. The other five had small home mortgages accepted by the FHA amounting to $21,900.

Despite certain necessary restrictions in the supply of materials necessary for home improvement, authorities have no intention of hindering the normal upkeep of America's eighty billion dollar investment in property.

FHA's property improvement program was recently further liberalized by congressional action in an effort to revive additional living quarters for war workers through conversion of existing structures. Under the changes, several rooms suitable for rooming or housekeeping privileges may be remodeled. An attic or second story may be remodeled into an apartment. A structure not now a dwelling may be remodeled into a one or multi-family house.

Loans up to $2,500 are available from qualified lending institutions under the FHA plan for necessary maintenance and repair work on homes. These loans are not limited to war production areas. Loans above $2,500 and up to $5,000 are available from the same sources for the conversion of existing structures into living quarters for war workers in designated war production areas.

Plans Are Completed for Starr-Knapp Formal Church Wedding Sunday Afternoon

With the rehearsal to be held on Saturday evening, every plan will have been completed for the formal church wedding of Miss Helen Knapp to Mr. Hugh S. Starr to be Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the First Methodist Church, Mt. Sterling.

Rev. C. W. Grant will read the single ring ceremony for which the bride-elect has asked her sister, Miss Bee Knapp, of Washington C. H., to be her maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will be another sister, Mrs. Eldon Lightfoot, of Washington C. H., Miss Peg Gensemer, of Millersburg, Mrs. Clayton J. Starr, of Columbus, and Miss Betty Gerhardt of Mt. Sterling. Little Sue Reiterman, of Mt. Sterling, will be the flower girl.

Mr. Starr will have as his best man, his brother, Mr. Clayton J. Starr, of Columbus, and his ushers will be Mr. Barney German, Columbus and Mr. Rupert Starr, of Mt. Sterling.

A half hour of bridal music will be played at the organ by Miss Martha Gittens, with Miss Gypsy Lee Billips, soprano, singing several appropriate numbers.

The wedding will be an outstanding event of the fall social season, and will be of interest to many in this city where many are planning to attend. The young couple have many friends here, made during their visits with the bride-elect's sisters, Miss Knapp and Mrs. Lightfoot.

A series of pre-nuptial parties and lovely affairs have feted the young couple, with showers for the bride-elect given by Mrs. Clayton J. Starr, Miss Martha Gittens, Mrs. Ben Johnson, Mrs. Eugene Hayman, Mrs. Hobart Davis and four other hostesses.

Surgical Dressing Unit Started On Thursday

The classes of the Surgical Dressing Unit of the Red Cross got underway on Thursday afternoon, in the room which has been designated for this work in Memorial Hall.

It is desired that all those who have registered for these classes, to be prompt in reporting for work during the coming week, so that it will benefit those in charge in making a smooth schedule and routine. Mrs. Martha Braun, general chairman and her aides have worked untiringly in making preparations for these necessary classes, and a small gesture towards appreciation, is to cooperate to the utmost.

The class for the business and professional women will be started on Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock. This includes only those who are working and are unable to attend the daytime classes.

THOMAS McCafferty FUNERAL RITES HELD

Funeral services for Thomas P. McCafferty, 78, who died at his home southeast of Mt. Sterling, were held at the Snyder Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling Thursday afternoon, followed by burial in the family lot at Mt. Sterling.

Mr. McCafferty was widely known in Pickaway, Fayette and Madison counties, and had spent most of his life on farms near Mt. Sterling.

Surviving are his widow; six sons, Harry, Howard, Claude, Earl, Frank and Joseph; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Beachin, Mrs. Rose Johnson, Mrs. Blanche French and Mrs. Mildred Passwaters. Also two brothers and a sister.

The clearance between the wheels of ancient Roman chariots 4 feet 8 1/2 inches, is the standard width of railroad track.

Conner Farm Women Change Club Schedule

Thursday afternoon, the Conner Farm Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Grace Rhonemus with Miss Anna May Rhonemus, as assistant hostess.

The meeting opened with a song, followed by the reading of the Club Creed, by Mrs. Grace Rhonemus. Sixteen members responded to roll call by naming a good book. Mrs. Elsie Rowe, the president, conducted the business session, during which the members voted to resume sewing for the Red Cross. The club had a long discussion upon the advisability of changing the number of meetings due to the rubber shortage and the coming gasoline rationing. A motion was then made and passed that owing to present war conditions, they would, for the present, discontinue the monthly meetings but keep the club functioning and would meet every fourth month. The next meeting will be held in January on the third Thursday. The election of club officers which would normally be in October was changed to this meeting. By a motion it was voted upon that the officers at the present time should be retained for the year 1943. These officers are: Mrs. Elsie Rowe, president; Mrs. Helen Coffman, 1st vice president; Miss Anna May Rhonemus, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Marjorie Case, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Jeanette Waddle, assistant secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Grace Rhonemus, chaplain; Mrs. Mae Montgomery, reporter.

Following the business session, the literary program followed. Mrs. Lorene Sollars most capably presented a very interesting account of the life of Will Rogers from the biography written by his wife entitled "Uncle Clem's Boy." Mrs. Jeanette Waddle read a magazine article on "Education in the Wake of the Nazi," which concluded the program. A social hour followed in which the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Second Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kline entertained with a dinner party on Tuesday evening, honoring their small son, Teddy Joe, on his second birthday.

A delicious fried chicken menu was served at the dining table, which was centered with a birthday cake, topped with two candles.

Seated with the young guest of honor were his parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hall, and sons, Bobby and Dickie.

Reinkes' Pride and Joy

Charilyn LaRee Reinke

Two and one-half years of age when the above photo was made, this very blonde and blue-eyed miss will celebrate her third birthday next March. Charilyn is the adorable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinke, of 938 Dayton Avenue, and moved here with her parents from Cincinnati two years ago come February.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinke have many friends in this city where they have both become active in community affairs, events at the Washington Country Club and in the circles of the First Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Reinke being president of the Marguerite Class.

Mr. Reinke was the shoe department in the Craig Brothers Department Store.

Charilyn's grandmother, Mrs. Freida Joyce, makes her home with the Reinkes, and she has one grandfather, Mr. Charles Reinke, Sr., who lives in the Queen City.

Mrs. Mannering Feted at Small Dessert Party

Complimenting Mrs. Kenneth R. Mannering, of Macon, Ga., Mrs. A. I. DeLong charmingly entertained with a small party Thursday evening at the Devins Party home, and included intimate friends of the guest of honor.

The dessert-course was very delicious, and was served at the dining table, which was centered with a watergarden of fall flowers.

The hour around the table was particularly gay, with the guest of honor besieged with numerous questions of her new home and showered with welcoming affections.

Bridge was played during the evening, and interspersed with the congenial conversation, everyone so eager to visit with Mrs. Mannering whose visit was altogether too brief.

A lovely guest gift was presented to the guest of honor and bridge trophies to Mrs. Paul Streevey, Mrs. Ben Wright, Mrs. Robert Edge and Mrs. Mannering.

Other guests were Miss Elizabeth Shoop, Mrs. Eugene McLean and Mrs. Leonard Korn.

Business and Professional Women's Club Resumes Fall Meetings Thursday Night

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Washington C. H. met for their first fall meeting at Memorial Hall, Thursday evening.

Tables for the delicious dinner, served by the American Legion Auxiliary, were arranged to form a "V" facing the speaker's table, Red, white and blue candles were interspersed down the long tables with large vases of beautiful fall flowers, with the speaker's table centered with a particularly pretty arrangement of flowers. An American flag, waving on the piano, was very effective.

Group singing was enjoyed during the dinner hour, during which four guests were introduced, Miss Norma Dodd, Miss Amelia Pensyl, Miss Laura Schadel and Miss Marian Moore.

The International Relations chairman, Miss Ilo Larrimer, chairman, Mrs. Ludene Inskeep, Miss Amy McCune, Miss Phyllis Chase and Miss Eloise Upp had planned a very interesting program for the evening, opening with two piano selections by Miss Katherine Biehn. Miss Biehn's remarkable talent was well displayed in her two numbers, "Rhapsody in G Minor" by Brahms and "The Nightingale" by Liszt.

The speaker for the evening was the Reverend William Wilson from the Presbyterian Church in Mt. Sterling. Reverend Wilson's talk on International Relations, was very effective and in keeping with the club's four point war program for the year. He gave reasons for the second World War, chief among them being because we had not finished the first one. He likened Hitler and the Japanese leaders to mad dogs, stating that you cannot combat mad dogs with Christianity but that they must be done away with. He also emphasized that the American public is too complacent and that if we think the war will be over in 12 months, we had better think again and buckle down to our part of the war effort.

During the business session the public affairs chairman, Miss Helen Slavens, announced that the annual employer's dinner would be held on Thursday, October 15, during National Business Woman's Week and the defense chairman reported that the club had formed a surgical dressing class, with very gratifying support from all the members.

To conclude the meeting, the vice-president, Mrs. Vernice Deafner gave a comprehensive report of the annual Fall Forum held at the Neil House, Columbus, September 12 and 13.

The Hudson river was called the Mauritius by the early Dutch.

COACHES ARE COUNTING ON 'SPIRIT' OF LOS

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—One thing that has hounded fans puzzled about the Whirlaway-Alsib match tomorrow is who's going to be pace setter? . . . Both these goats—beg pardon, equine aristocrats—like to come from behind and win and unless one jockey is willing to take a chance on getting a licking by setting the pace, the affair is liable to be about as exciting as that great mile race a few years back when Cunningham, Venzke and Mangan did everything but run backwards to keep from taking the lead. . . . To dress up the race a bit they're calling it the "Naragansett" championship; and instead of having numbers, the starting stalls will have signs "Whirlaway" and "Alsib" over them. . . . When George Halas scouted the Eastern Army All-Star footballers at Baltimore his only comment was, "they keep coming at you."

SEASON OPENER FRIDAY NIGHT TO BRING TEST

Crowd of Students and Fans Gathers To See
Final Practice

In a pouring rain and on a muddy field, the new Blue Lion football team and their mentors, Coaches Jerry Kissell and George Miraben, held their last practice Thursday evening before the opening game of the football season with Portsmouth East Tartans here at 8:15 P. M. Friday (tonight).

That intangible but all-important element of football called spirit is being counted on strongly by the coaches to carry the Blue Lions through their schedule this year.

Coach Kissell, with a pre-season analysis of the team, said the boys "are mighty green" and they are "pretty light" but he added with a broad grin of pride in them "they've got spirit and you know that's half of any battle."

In the eyes of the coach, who had never seen any of his charges until less than a month ago, the Lion backfield will be fast and "smart." The line, he admitted, is causing him most concern but he expressed the hope that the few experienced players would be able to stabilize the "green" boys.

While not down-hearted, he made no secret of his uncertainty. He said he had his fingers crossed and was hoping for the best and that "we can tell better what they've got after they've had a taste of real football." That many of the boys would be nervous in their first game was expected by the coach.

The team as a whole showed improvement since the first of the week. The Lion forward wall was "up and at 'em with plenty of spark and determination" during the evening session.

Like most ball clubs, the Lions were "doing their stuff" before a sizeable crowd of townspeople and students who had gathered at Gardner Park for a pep rally and to get behind the team and boost them into the new 1942 season.

Approximately 200 students snake-danced to the park in spite of rain to show the Blue Lions they backed them one hundred percent.

A remark by one of the students was echoed by many others when he said, "Our brows are damp but our spirits are high."

Through shrill screaming and vibrant yelling could be heard in the distance the marching foot steps and familiar drum beats that make football atmosphere—it was the WHS band, which rain or shine, snow or sleet, is always playing.

"When we go out on that field tonight WE won't come out second best. This is your ball game, the only way you are going to get any enjoyment out of it IS TO BEAT THE SOCKS OFF OF 'EM AT THE CRACK OF THE GUN. When you go out on that field keep in unison. That makes a ball club."

That's what coach Jerry Kis-

Cardinals Tighten Grip on Lead While Dodgers Lose To Pirates

By SID FEDER

(By The Associated Press)
Well, children, it looks like you can patch up what's left of the tires on the family bus and head for old St. Louis for your World Series fun, and from what's been going on here lately it is no longer so much the Cardinals winning as the Dodgers losing the National League flag.

For, if ever a club looked like it had folded up, the Dodgers from Flatbush did just that yesterday in dropping a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates for their sixth setback in seven games.

What made the Bums seem all the more pathetic was the way the Cards kept right on fighting in Boston and finally won out 6-4 with a five-run blast in the ninth, to go three games in front in the pennant parade.

At the same instant as the guys from St. Louis were finally getting to Al Javery—after being muffled with five hits for eight frames—three Dodgers were walking meekly up to the plate at Ebbets Field for their ninth-inning "licks" and being retired in order with no more fight than you'll find in a slightly dead chicken.

The net result of these proceedings was to put the Cards in a spot where only a major catastrophe can keep the Redbirds out of the senior circuit championship, climaxing one of the sturdiest uphills in years. For, not only were they three games in front with only eight to go, but two of these games were on the important "losing side" in the records.

At the moment, as the Cards headed west to pick up against the Cubs Saturday and the Dodgers tangled with the Phillies today, here was the picture:

	W.	L.	Play
Cardinals	99	47	8
Dodgers	95	49	10

With the hot National League shindig still just about the whole show, the chief supporting features of the day saw the New York Yankees win their 100th ball game to break a record they already had in the books and Tex Hughson join the select "20-game-winners" pitching set.

Joe DiMaggio's 20th homer of the season, good for three runs, was the big blow for the Yanks as they knocked off the Detroit Tigers 7-4. This marked the eighth season in which the Bombers had chalked up 100 or more victories, adding one more year to the mark they already had.

Hughson became the first 20-game winner for the Boston Red Sox since the hey-day of Wesley-chiek Ferrell. Tex spread nine hits among the St. Louis Browns and galloped off with a 5-1 decision.

But the pitching job of the afternoon came out of the Philadelphia Athletics. Young Roger Wolff had Jimmy Dykes moaning in agony as he handcuffed the Chicago White Sox with just two safeties for a 1-0 victory.

Out in Cleveland, Sid Hudson arrived on the scene in the 11th inning for the Senators just in time to walk home the winning run that gave the Indians a 6 to 5 ball game.

Babe Young clouted a homer and three singles and knocked in seven runs to back up Harry Feldman's five-hit fast-balling and give the New York Giants an easy 11-1 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Chicago Cubs flailed the Phillies 8-0 behind Hank Wyse's eight-hit whitewashing job.

The first charter for a steam railroad in the country was issued in New Jersey in 1815.

Bowling Season Opens Here With Revival of Old Feud

The winter bowling season got underway at the Whetzel Bowling Alleys on South Main Street Thursday night with a revival of an old family feud, so to speak.

Suitable enough to pry the lid off of any kind of an event, the ladies and gentlemen of the Ohio Bell Telephone family here got together for a renewal of their series of match games.

They went at it, balls and pins, all last winter and the ladies came out ahead—the gentlemen being gentlemen of the mousy type, perhaps.

Formalities always have been taboo and there has been no change. On the score sheet, the teams appear only by the players' first names. But that fails to conceal their identity.

The ladies were not up to par in the season and series opener and they took a decisive drubbing at the hands of the gentlemen. Not only did they lose every one of the three games of the match but they also were snowed under by a 2061 to 1843 total count.

LAYMON AND WILKIN WIN TWO MORE HEATS IN SIDNEY FAIR RACE

Harold Laymon and Wilkin, his level-headed two-year-old pacer, added heats 12 and 13 to the win column on their first season's record when they coasted to another easy victory over four other two-year-olds at Sidney, Thursday.

On the opposite side of the ledger, they have only three black marks. They lost one heat at Xenia and two at Wilmington. The Washington C. H. debutants in the sport of harness horse racing had everything their own way at Sidney. Starting from the outside position, they brushed right to the front to take the rail going around the turn. From there on they set their own pace and were never pressed.

The season will come to a close for Laymon and his colt next week at Bellefontaine when they go against another field of juvenile stake performers on Thursday.

Two other horses from here sell told his boys as he wound up preparations for the first game.

Not including the starting eleven, Don Harper, Bill Ruduck, Stan Mark, Marlyn Engle, and Junior Jarnigan probably will get in the game against the Tartans. As an extra special feature, this evening at five o'clock the boys are going to eat together at Campbell's restaurant, the guests of the athletic department of WHS.

Trojans Resort to Speed Because Weight Lacking

By FRANK FRAWLEY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Any resemblance of the Southern California football team this fall to those of other seasons will be, as the movie captions say, purely coincidental.

The Trojans have a new head man, Newell (Jeff) Cravath, who last year was at the University of San Francisco. The Howard Jones Football Bible, in use 16 years, has been cast out without ceremony. But there's method in this heresy.

Cravath, who once played center on Jones' championship teams, has sized up his squad and found it runs to speed. So speed and a modicum of imagination will replace the bone-crushing tactics the Trojans of yore employed to subdue their adversaries. Jeff has convinced his men that his new deal will save a lot of wear and tear on life, limb and equipment, and they're for it.

The new Trojans aren't going to butt their brains out against anybody's stone wall, much less such imposing and unyielding forward barricades as those of California, Stanford, Notre Dame, the Navy's pre-flight school at St. Mary's and seven other teams on an 11-game schedule that opens here next Saturday against the green wave of Tulane.

Win or lose, the Trojans promise to give the fans a lot of excitement. It will be open football most of the way, with much passing and wide sweeps and less of the power play stuff that brought many a yawn in the cavernous Los Angeles coliseum. Troy's backfield will have speed burners anxious to go places in a hurry, and they will go if the line problem can be solved.

All-Buckeye Battle For AA Title To Open in Columbus

(By the Associated Press)
The All-Ohio battle for the governor's cup championship of the American Association opens tonight between Columbus and Toledo, with Bill Crouch slated to take the mound for the Red Birds and Archie McKain Toledo's pitching nominee.

The winner of the best-of-seven series will meet either the Syracuse Chiefs or the Jersey City Giants, finalists in the international League playoffs, for the Little World's Series crown. Syracuse eliminated Montreal last night, 7-2. Jersey City made the grade a day earlier, putting out the pennant-winning Newark Bears, four games to two.

Crouch of Columbus has won 11 games this season and lost 12, and Toledo's McKain compiled 17 victories and 11 defeats.

The Birds and Mud Hens play two games in Columbus before moving to Toledo. If the series goes beyond five encounters the teams return to Ohio's capital.

War and Baseball Serious to Workers

BALTIMORE, Sept. 18.—(AP)—War and baseball are the main topics at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard.

Throughout the yards are signs "To Hell With Hitler." And with the change in the Brooklyn Dodgers' National League pennant fortunes came the postscript to one sign: "Also Brooklyn."

DON'T JACK-UP YOUR CAR

It's a proven fact, that a stored car deteriorates faster than one that is sensibly driven every day. The same is true of tires. As proof place a box of rubber bands in storage. After a few months they lose their resiliency, may even fall apart. So be patriotic and keep your car running—but remember drive fewer miles and sensibly!

GREETINGS BY WESTERN UNION ARE CURTAILED

Heavy Demands Result in Changes in Type of Messages Accepted

Some radical changes have been announced in the type of messages accepted for transmission by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

No special-rate social and holiday greeting telegrams, tourate and reservations messages or sing-o-grams can be sent after midnight Thursday it was announced by J. W. Yates, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Co. Cancellation of all flat-rate telegraph services in the nation has been announced by the telegraph company to prevent any possible interference with the efficient handling of the large and growing volume of vital war communications.

"Western Union told the War Production Board as long ago as March 10 that it would cancel these services as soon as they threatened to interfere with government or war messages," Yates said. "As long, however, as Western Union could handle these special services without any danger of delaying war messages, the company has refrained from discontinuing them because they gave pleasure to so many people, and thereby contributed to public morale."

"Many of the holidays and special occasions fall on Sunday or a general holiday when the volume of other telegraph traffic is comparatively low. Our shortage, however, is not facilities, but in trained personnel, many of whom are now in the armed services or other work."

The services discontinued were announced as follows: Christmas, New Years, Thanksgiving, Easter, St. Valentine's Day, Father's Day, Mother's Day and Jewish New Year greetings, sent as special-rate messages.

Social telegrams at special rates, for birthdays and other anniversaries, births, weddings, commencements and similar occasions; kiddiegrams to children, bon voyage messages, pep telegrams to school teams, and fixed-text messages from resorts and national parks. Also sing-o-grams and tourate and reservation telegrams for travelers.

After elimination of the low-rate special services, Yates said, the following domestic services will continue to be available for all business and social purposes: Telegrams, dayletters, overnight telegrams, serial telegrams, timed wire service, teletype service, telegraphic money orders, government, press and commercial news services, such as stock tickers and messages reporting quotations and volume of trading on security and commodity exchanges.

ONLY SEVEN DEGREES VARIANCE RECORDED

Rainfall During Past 24 Hours Is .28 of Inch

A variance of only seven degrees in the maximum and minimum temperature for the 24 hour period ending at 7 A. M. Friday, was recorded here by U. S. Weather Observer, Stanley Mark.

The small difference in the extremes is decidedly unusual, and in this case it was 76, maximum and 69, minimum.

During the 24 hours, rainfall totaled .28 of an inch.

An Increased Number Taken Into Custody for Intoxication

The number of persons arrested for intoxication has been growing here recently, as well as arrests for other minor offenses, and there is every reason to believe that the number of intoxicated persons will not be so numerous on the city streets as heretofore.

Over Thursday and Thursday night four persons were arrested, including one for loitering. Harry Jackson, colored, was the one picked up for loitering, back of the Arlington Hotel.

Early Friday morning two additional persons were arrested for intoxication.

The war on loafers is continuing here, and officers have been instructed to pick them up whenever and wherever they are found.

ARRAIGN INDICTED MEN ON SATURDAY

One Man in Group Facing Two Indictments

Field, near Montgomery, Alabama.

In the Pre-Flight School for Pilots, Cadet Miller, will receive nine weeks of intensive military, physical and academic training, preparatory to his 27 weeks of flight training, which leads to the highly-coveted wings symbolizing the role of a flying officer in the nation's air forces.

Upon completion of his training at Maxwell Field, he will be sent to one of the many primary flying schools in the Southeast Army Air Forces Training Center.

Cadet Miller is a graduate of Ashland Senior High; Marshall College and the University of Kentucky. He was in the Army fourteen months before being appointed a cadet in the Army Air Forces, July 14, 1942. He graduated at Casey Jones School of Aeronautics, Newark, New Jersey, after being appointed a cadet. He began his pre-flight course at Maxwell Field on August 18, 1942. His father, R. E. Miller, served in the U. S. Army for 18 months during the last World War.

During his long years of service, the country has had three wars—Spanish-American, First World War and the present world war.

He made a great many friends throughout the community while stationed here.

DRIVERS LICENSES MOVING SLOWLY

Last Minute Rush Is Seen Due To Delay

With less than two weeks in which to obtain them, drivers licenses are continuing to move somewhat slowly at the Fayette County Auto Club, and as a result a heavy last-minute rush is anticipated.

Several thousands of persons must obtain their operators licenses by the end of September, and this means heavy demand upon the increased clerical force at the auto club office.

The number of licenses issued up to the noon hour Friday was somewhat over 1500.

DEMAND FOR CANNING SUGAR HAS DECLINED

The big rush for sugar for fall canning has largely subsided, and the rationing office employees have settled down to routine work.

During the big rush, it was not uncommon for a score of persons to be waiting in line for their turn at the rationing desks.

INSTRUCTORS COURSE HERE

First Aid Workers of Red Cross Invited from Other Counties

Dr. James F. Wilson, chairman of first aid for the Fayette County Red Cross, has received notification from national headquarters, of a 15 hour Instructors Course in First Aid to be held here Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 by T. C. McDaniels, a representative of the National Staff in First Aid.

Dr. Wilson in this city and Dr. O. L. Wiseman at Jeffersonville, are now having reviewing courses in First Aid preparing for the arrival of McDaniels and First Aiders from the surrounding counties have been invited to attend McDaniels' classes.

Further announcements will be made by Dr. Wilson as to the time and place for holding the classes in the near future.

McDaniel, a coach, teacher, athletic and radio announcer, is well qualified for his present work.

A former ALLSIAA basketball player at Eastern Kentucky Teachers College, he has taught and coached in Kentucky, Tennessee and South Carolina, and has had three years of experience as a volunteer in first aid work for Red Cross Chapters.

McDaniel, who lives in Columbia, S. C., got his A. B. degree at Eastern Kentucky, his master's at George Peabody College in Nashville, and took additional graduate work at Boston University.

Before joining the national staff of the American Red Cross, he did Boy Scout work in Kentucky and announced special events and sports over a number of Southern radio stations.

Attention—Hog Producers

From Lima News: Hogs sell well. St. Marys, Aug. 27. Julius Broerman, farmer and livestock raiser, took 137 hogs to market, bringing $5,563.52. Has 161 more that will be ready for market soon. Broerman has more than 30 sows to farrow this fall. 8 years ago last June, D. C. Gamble was sent to his farm by a friend of Broerman, saying his hogs were dying with Necro. Sure enough, when Gamble arrived he found seven dead hogs. He was a tough customer to crack saying yes, that's what they all claim. I argued, cussed, finally he gave in and gave balance of sick hogs the 1-6, 1-12 treatment. It corrected his troubles in a short time at very little cost, from that time on he has been a continuous user of Gold Leaf Mineral and he doesn't fail giving the Gold Leaf 1-6, 1-12 treatment to all his hogs. Julius has bought 3400 lbs. Gold Leaf since Jan. 1st, 500 lbs. going to him Sept. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Broerman are real workers, having a herd of dairy cows, large flock of hens, all stock and poultry get Gold Leaf. You can be young and small but if you will trust in the Gold Leaf way of caring for your stock, you too can sell hogs, milk, eggs like these two young people. I could mention of many like this all over the country, go to your dealer at once, buy 100 lb. sack, start the safer way. Proven too many times to be criticized.

If your dealer does not handle Gold Leaf, you can buy at dealer price in 500 pound lots.
